PROLOGUE

"Over his keys the musing organist.

Beginning doubtfully and far away,
First lets his fingers wander as they list,
And builds a bridge from Dreamland for his lay."
—Lowell.

"We search the world for truth, we cull
The good, the true, the beautiful."—Whittier.

"They shall work for an age at a sitting and never be tired at all."—Kipling.

"What matter I or they,
Mine or another's day,
So the right word is said
And life the sweeter made?"—Whittier.

"Break, break break,
On thy cold, gray stones, O Sea.
And I would that my tongue could utter
The thoughts that arise in me."—Tennyson.

"Merrily, merrily, shall I live now,
Under the blossom that hangs on the bough."—Shakespeare.

"If I should live to be
The last leaf upon the tree
In the spring,
Let them smile as I do now,
At the old forsaken bow
Where I cling."—Holmes.

CLASS HISTORY

As the school year opened, one morning a little light-haired girl, with blue eyes, known as Vivian Vaughn took her place in the primary class, and progressing rapidly soon reached the third grade. She was not there long until she with her other classmates were promoted to the fourth grade.

She, like all other pupils, was mischievous and was made to stand upon the floor for laughing one day.

Each year she was promoted to higher grades and harder made her lean and pale; but nevertheless she is the girl to win.

JESSIE COWLES—A true, loyal senior and always into mischief. She is thinking of taking a course in teacher's department next year at Cedar Falls.

VIVIAN VAUGHN—She is a fair girl of the country and may be proud of the fact, and will be an artist of no small ability.

Juniors

EARL SHIFFER—Earl is a good ball player; but does not believe in working himself if he can work anyone else. Inclined to be forgetful.

FERRIS BRICKER—Always in for fun and a good time. Especially fond of street corner tete-a-tetes on Shiffer's street after school, also a lover of music.

FRED WILSON—A hard working student, and always wins. He likes fun just the same.

WILLARD TAYLOR—Is very popular, especially with the girls. Especially proficient in the branch he pursues.

RAY MEANS—Ambitious in school, but will probably be a photographer in the near future.

MAMIE PARCHER—She will drop her glove, to prove his love. Great glory will be hers.

ETHRIC LINN—Sometime in the near future a great lawyer we shall see.

Sophomores

BILL GIBSON—Has hopes of becoming an extinguished gopher trapper.

HARIY MOORE—Wishes to gain employment in a gum establishment.

CHARLIE SHIFFER—Reserves one ear for music.

INEZ MOSER—Quiet, modest and useful.

INEZ HIGGINS—Has sighed to many and is sighing still.

RALPH CRAMER—Freckled and frolicsome.

RUTH WINDOM—Plain spoken in all things.

IDA DEEVERS—Heart whole and fancy free.

JESSIE NARIGON—A lover of Ta'uin, Virgil preferred.

ETHEL BROWN—Has a very kind disposition and always ready to sacrifice her pleasures to help others.

AVANELLE GIDLEY—May her life be long and sunny.

work, but nevertheless she still loved play and as she liked to make colored pictures, the teacher had, sometimes, to tell her to put them away and get lessons instead.

Working harder each year she passed the grammar room, and entered the High School as a Freshman. She passed on to the eleventh grade, and then thought she would take a course at Cedar Falls, but took up the twelfth grade work.

As time drew near for school to start the next year, she thought she could not miss graduating with her three classmates that were left, so taking the eleventh grade work this year, will graduate in the class of 1914.

A very shy little flaxen-haired girl, by the name of Jessie Cowles entered the primary department when she was about seven years old with Miss Mary Sawyer as teacher.

Owing to her rapid progress, she completed the primary work in less than a year. She was then promoted to the fourth grade in the Intermediate room, Miss Newall as teacher.

After she completed the work in the Intermediate room, she entered the grammar room. Here she spent two years in hard study, preparing herself to enter the High School.

Although she studied hard, sometimes she would have to sit on the front seat for laughing.

When school started the next September she entered the High School as a "Freshman." Her High School work has been regular, occupying the four years and closing with her graduation in 1914.

A little light-haired girl by the name of Gladys Hunter entered the Pierce School when she was about five years old. She went one week the first school year. Her teacher's name was Miss Nellie Orme.

She continued going to school for four years and each year a new teacher. One year there was no school at the Pierce School, so she and her brother walked to school two miles east of their home.

She was a very good child since her teacher, Miss Blanche Osburn, did not have to correct her. A remarkable reputation for her.

One morning Gladys frightened some of the pupils and their parents. On the way to school on this morning, she and her brother happened to turn around and saw a dog following them, so they went back home and went around by road to the schoolhouse.

When they arrived there they told the pupils that a mad dog had taken after them. Some of the pupils would not go home that evening till their parents came after them.

Gladys next went to her own school till she was twelve years old, when she passed the rural examination and received her diploma.

She entered the Nodaway High School that fall with the rest of the Freshman Class and will graduate this year, 1914.

In the spring of 1902, a timid, freckled face little girl took her place among the members of the Primary Class of the Nodaway Public school.

Owing to the fear of the teacher, Miss Mary Sawyer, Olive was careful that she didn't chew gum or commit like offenses, except such times as she was positively sure the teacher's back was turned.

On account of the close watch which she kept on the teacher, her eyes became affected and she was obliged to discontinue school for the remainder of that term.

The next year you would have found her in a little country school northeast of Corning, and the year following she attended the "Bullock school," northeast of Nodaway. Here much of her time was spent in gathering hazelnuts, in which occupation she was the only girl pupil in the school.

From here she was promoted to the Villisca school where she attended at the "Lincoln Building" until the fall of 1906, when she celebrated Hallowe'en by moving to Nodaway.

Here she took her place with the members of the fifth grade, with whom she remained until her graduation from the Nodaway High School in 1914.

The members of the class were united in the year of 1910, when the High School course was begun and this union has not been broken by any circumstance or failure until this, our graduation. (Continued on page 19)

CLASS REGISTER

Seniors

GLADYS HUNTER—A gentle and modest girl, a school teacher she will be, always on time, regardless of time or weather.

OLIVE McCAIN—Much study and serious thoughts hath

Freshmen

RAY MARSH—To live peacefully among all men.

MAY MARSH—Will take a course in learning how to smile.

MYRON TAYLOR—Will sometime be counted among the great ball players.

VIVIAN CAROTHERS—A very mischievous girl, but loves her books just the same.

EARNEST LAWRENCE—Slow going, but fast growing.

HAROLD WILSON—Like many another, different from his brother. He is "Johnny on the Spot"—"a little chimney and soon hot."

HAROLD PARCHER—Always has his nose stuck in a book.

LUCILE CROMWELL—Lives quite a distance from school; and would rather read than study.

LULA RICHARD—Never sober but always grinning.

A VALENTINE STORY

Vivian Vaughn

The Senior girls, anxious for something to do, decided to have a valentine party, and at their next class meeting, Jessie Cowles said, "I know what we will do, we will invite the boys of the Junior class." "Of course they will not come, but we can show them we can be good, if they are angry at us." Everyone was in favor and the next week valentine invitations were sent.

Each day at noon the boys seemed to be trying to find an excuse not to accept the invitation. It was very evident all the time what they were going to do, but like all wise Seniors, did not see it.

Finally the Juniors made their plans, so one afternoon

"Give us five dishes."

there was a note passed around among the boys for their signatures, and late in the day, the Senior girls received a formal note of regret.

Oh! such fun as they did have with the note, finding the misspelled words that Juniors should never spell wrong, and later it was framed as a picture for the class treasure.

The Senior girls did not let such a trivial thing as this spoil their fun, so on Valentine eve, a crowd of merry girls gathered at the home of Mrs. Lydia Heller, and such fun as they did have, never once thinking of the Junior boys who had played such a joke on the Seniors, for the fun was mostly on the Juniors after all.

SHAKESPERIAN HISTOY OF CLASS OF 1914

The class of 1914 began as sort of a "Midsummer Nights' Dream." "It Grew "Measure by Measure" into a veritable Tempest." "Two Gentlemen of Verona," who were passing a "Twelfth Night" at the home of their friends the "Merry Wives of Winsor," discussed it; one of them declared it to be "Much Adoo About Nothing" while the other pronounced it "Loves Labor Lost" or at the best, only a "Winters Tale."

It was agreed however, that it might possibly result in the "Taming of the Shrew," in which case it would be a blessing. So "All's Well That Ends Well," and you Seniors have it just "As You Like It."

SCHOOL OF FAME

"How boys and girls become famous."

RUTH WINDOM—Because she often receives Mr. Beall's approving glance.

HARRY MOORE—For chewing gum.

INEZ HIGGINS—She cannot be forgotten because of the memory of her incessant giggles.

FERRIS BICKER—The only pupil in the N. H. S. who can get her studies, when her mind is elsewhere.

OLIVE McCAIN—Capable of winning everybody by her pleasing smiles.

JESSIE COWLES—Her ability to charm.

GLADYS HUNTER—For never interfering with other people's affairs.

CHARLES SHIFFER—For never reciting in General History.

IDA DEAVERS—For never staying out late at night.

WILLARD TAYLOR—For reading good library books.

FRED WILSON—Being on good terms with the teachers.

ETHRIC LINN—Always arguing with the girls.

EARL SHIFFER—Never seen talking to the girls.

MAY MARSH—Her tongue is never stil' except when asleep.

VIVIAN CAROTHERS—Sor never growing larger than a peanut.

INEZ MOZER—For never quarreling with her classmates.

HAROLD PARCHER—For always having his nose stuck in a book.

RALPH CRAMER—Because his freckles have the power of illuminating the dark ways not reached by the brilliant gleams of the numerous street lamps.

VIVIAN VAUGHN—On account of her ability to take things as they come.

JESSIE NARIGON—For being alert in the Rhetoric and Composition Class.

AVENELLE GIDLEY—Always on hand to entertain her friends.

MAMIE PARCHER—For being able to take a joke.

HAROLD WILSON—For shedding tears of grief over petty things.

LUCILE CROMWELL—For her far-away expression during class periods.

"BILL" GIBSON—The giant of the N. H. S.

EARNEST LAWRENCE—Earnest in all things.

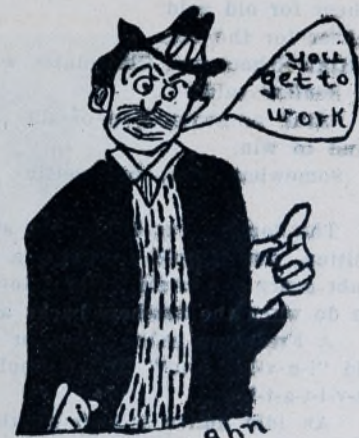

MYRON TAYLOR—The ball player of the N. H. S.

LULA RICHARDS—Being able to take part in any kind of fun.

RAY MARSH—Always quarreling with his fellow classmates.

JINGLE JABS

Jessie Cowles:—The easiest way to a woman's heart is through a candy store.

Mrs. Beall (in Agricultural class):—"What is the proper ration to give a working horse? Willard Taylor:—"All he can eat."

Mr. Beall (in History class):—"When, where and by whom was the first automobile invented? Gladys H:—"In Omaha, by the Carter Co.," "in 1912."

Mrs. Beall (in Agricultural class):—"Where are cabbages grown?" Vivian V. (absently): "In the Model Restaurant.

A cheer for old gold

A cheer for the blue

To High School and Classmates we'll always be true.

The Seniors said:

"Sink or swim, live or die, survive or perish, we are bound to win.

Somewhat wise, but getting wiser.

Juniors.

The Sophomores dislike the study of Rhetoric and Composition, but if told to write a note for their lesson, no doubt every one could write a love note for that is all they can do when the teachers backs are turned.

A Freshman asked a Junior how to spell invitation, he said "i-n-v-i-t-i-o-n." But a Sophomore overheard and said i-n-v-i-t-a-t-i-o-n.

An idle dollar is still worth a hundred cents, but an idle Freshman is worth less than nothing.

"G-R-E-E-N but growing."

Freshman.

Somewhat dull but growing brighter."

Freshman.

Mr. Beall in the geometry class asked Ralph Cramer how he drew the line A B to C D? Ralph Cramer: I drew it with my pencil.

Jessie Narigon is working real hard to get Caesar this year, and hopes to get Virgil next year.

Ray Means: There are lots of nice girls who never intend to get married. Mamie Parcher: How do you know?

Roy M: I have proposed to several.

"Spec Linn" was placed upon the debating committee for the Junior banquet. He was asked to what committee he belonged. He said, "I'm on the eatin committee.

Harry Moore (Chewing Gum)

Mrs. Beall: Harry are you chewing gum? Harry: "Yes." Mrs B: "Please dispose of it." (Harry never moved) Mrs. B: "Why don't you do what I told you to?" Harry: "I've swallowed it."

WANTED—Information how to write a formal regret.
Two Freshmen

Myron Taylor: "Oh I feel so sleepy for some reason."
Vivian Carothers: "I think you would, not getting home from a party till half past three in the morning.

Gladys Hurter

YEARLY BUDGET

This bill is to be put before the School Directors sometime before September.

WANTED—

- I. One dozen mouse traps for use in the High School
- II. Extension in the widths of the aisles, for the convenience of Mrs. Beall.
- III. A rocking chair for Mr. Beall.

IV. Information. How many propositions is a Junior capable of solving?

Please send information to Mr. Beall.

V. A duster cloth for the janitor.

VI. Another lot to be appropriated by the Freshman girls for the purpose of building playhouses.

VII. Information leading to the discovery of a secret passage to the library.

CLASS POEM

If a body finds a lesson
Rather hard and dry,
If nobody comes to "show" him,
Need a body cry?
If his little time to study,
Should he stop and sigh?
Ere he says, "I cannot get it,"
Aught he not to Try?

If a body scans his lesson
With a steady eye,

All its hardness he will conquer,

—Conquer by and by,

Then how neatly he'll recite it,

Face not all awry!

Ne'er again he'll say, "I cannot."

But will go and Try!

CLASS YELLS

Who are, Who are, Who are we,

Can't you, Can't you, Can't you see,

We're not joking, We're not sporting,

We're the class of 1914.

Who are we! Why —

We are Seniors don't you see?

Loyal Seniors all aglow that makes things go!

Ricka, Chicka, Boom!

Boom! Boom! Bah!

Gold and Blue, Rah! Rah! Rah!

Haven't you seen?

What do you mean?

We're the class of '14.

Ricka, Chicka, Boom!

Boom! Boom! Bah!

Gold and Blue Rah! Rah! Rah!

A PSALM

Professor Thomas P. Beall is my hoodoo, I fear I shall not graduate. He giveth me lessons outrageous. He giveth me A, he calleth it flunk and a fly ball and shooteth me plum full of sarcasm. Yea, though I read night and day, and speak my knowledge at class time, he showeth no mercy, but calleth me a failure. He sees me when one ventureth to whisper, and bids him make haste to get busy. He maketh much fun of frivolity, he seeth quite far, he showeth me up. Surely, I'm right up against it and in these jokes doomed to dwell on and forever.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

Having been judged of sound mind and able to comprehend fully that the end is drawing near, we will proceed to make our last will and testament before we make the fatal plunge into the unknown regions of the future.

To the Juniors we bequeath our feelings of superiority over our fellow classmen.

To Inez Moser, Vivian Vaughn's happy cackle.

To Inez Higgin we bequeath Gladys Hunters serious views of life.

To Myron Taylor, Olive McCain's gentle smiles.

To Ethric Linn, Jessie Cowles, ability to take a joke.

We surrender, freely and willingly to the boys of the Junior class the pleasures which we derive from Valentine Parties.

Immediately our colors are placed among the colors of the alumni, we give the Sophos' colors the supremacy in N. H. S.

To the Freshman class all things which have grieved or in anyway come between us and our pleasure.

To Ray Marsh, Olive McCain's ability to overcome any obstacle which might arise from the deep and dark recesses of an arithmetic book.

To Roy Means we give Vivian Vaughn's mastery of Pedagogy.

To Ferris Bricker, Gladys Hunter's vivid knowledge of Agriculture.

To Earl Shiffer, Jessie Cowles credits in History.

To Ruth Windom and Inez Moser, extra credits in Department.

To Fred Wilson, the ability of the Seniors of '14 to take life as a mere joke.

To Mamie Parcher the tender memories of our past. May she profit by them!

We appoint Mr. Wm. Gibson executor of this our last will and testament. Done this 19th day of March, in the year of Our Lord Nineteen Hundred and Fourteen.

CLASS HISTORY

Vivian Vaughn

Vivian Vaughn was born in the year of 1896, and at the age of three years was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Vaughn as their foster daughter. She lived on a farm three-quarters of a mile south of town till nearly seven years of age, then moved to the New Century Hotel that Mr. Vaughn built, living there until the death of both her father and mother, she with her brother and sister moved into her grandmother's home. Nearly two years later occurred the marriage of her sister to Mr. C. L. Watts with whom she made her home, they living on the old home place.

She has attended the public school all these years and will graduate this year, 1914, with her classmates, ever ready to aim for higher efforts.

Olive McCain was born at Schaller, Iowa, May 15, 1896. When but a few months old she went with her parents to Silver City residing there for only a short time, moving when Olive was about three years old to Nodaway, and residing on a farm one mile southwest of town. About four years later she with her parents, took up their residence on a farm northeast of Corning, but not liking this locality they removed to a farm one and one-half miles southwest of Nodaway. The following year they went to Villisca, residing in that city till the fall of 1906, when unable to longer separate themselves from the lively town of Nodaway, they returned to that place, and have since resided in and near that town. The greater part of Olive's life has been spent in school but she occasionally visits her birthplace during the summer months of vacation.

Jessie Cowles

Jessie Cowles was born September 8, 1896 on a farm a mile and a half northwest from Nodaway. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bullock. Her mother died when she was only eight weeks old, so her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cowles took her to raise. She lived with them on the farm until she was four years old then she moved to Nodaway with her grandparents where she has since resided. She started to school when she was seven years old. When she was five they took her to the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, also visited Niagara Falls. On their return home they stopped at Ohio, visiting in Cleveland and other places. In 1908 she again visited Ohio spending two months. She has been east several times and west only as far as Omaha. In the short time that she has lived she has had a good time. Her aim in life is to make something of herself, and try and be a help to others.

Gladys Hunter was born August 2, 1897 on a farm about three and one-half miles northeast of New Market. When she was about five years old her parents moved to a farm about four miles south of Nodaway, where they have resided until the present time. Miss Gladys declares that she intends to live there until — well until she moves somewhere else.

It Pays to Advertise.

We Seniors learned our "A B Cs" in Nodaway from the signs of our enterprising business men, whose advertisements appear on the following pages of this annual:
